George Alfred ADAMS

George Alfred Adams was born in Dunedin, New Zealand in 1888.

George Alfred Adams originally enlisted with Australian Imperial Force (A.I.F.) on 9th August, 1915 in Adelaide, South Australia & was attached to 27th Battalion with a service number of 3003. His religion was listed as Salvation Army & his next of kin was listed as his Aunt – Mrs Anne Adams of Simmons St, South Yarra, Victoria. He had previously been rejected for serving due to him being below height – he was 5 feet 1 ¼ inches.

Pte Adams embarked from Adelaide via HMAT Medic on 12th January, 1916. He was admitted to 3rd Auxiliary Hospital at Heliopolis, Egypt on 30th March, 1916 & invalided to Australia from Suez on 21st May, 1916 on Armada. He was discharged on 14th July, 1916 as medically unfit (Varicose veins) after serving a total of 339 days, 168 of those days were served as service abroad.

George Alfred Adams re-enlisted on 27th September, 1916 at Warrnambool with the 6th Infantry Battalion, 22nd Reinforcements of the Australian Army (A.I.F.). At the time of his re-enlistment, George was a single, 29*(age discrepancy see below) year old Labourer from Fairie Street, Warrnambool, Victoria. His service number was 6707 & his religion was Presbyterian. His next of kin was listed as his sister – Mrs Violet Amelia Softley of 79 O'Shannessy Street, North Melbourne, Victoria. (The Roll of Honour information (completed by relatives) for George Adams - "which Town or District in Australia was he chiefly connected - under which his name ought to come on the Memorial") the answer was given as Warracknabeal in Victoria.)

Pte George Alfred Adams embarked from Melbourne on HMAT Ulysses (A38) on 25th October, 1916 & disembarked at Plymouth, England in December, 1916.

Pte George Adams was admitted to Fargo Military Hospital, Wiltshire with bronchitis on 22nd January, 1917 from 2nd Training Battalion. He became seriously ill with Broncho-pneumonia on 23rd January, 1917.

Private George Alfred Adams died of Broncho-pneumonia at Fargo Military Hospital at 10 a.m. on 28th January, 1917. Pte Adams was one of five men to die at Fargo Military Hospital in the space of 12 hours from Broncho-pneumonia / pneumonia. (Pte Hector Fraser, 6145, died 10.30 p.m. 27th January, 1917 buried Durrington Cemetery plot 161; Pte Albert Victor James, 2885, died 11.40 p.m. 27th January, 1917, buried Durrington Cemetery plot 160; Pte Herbert Chester Canham, 6177, died 1.30 a.m. 28th January, 1917, buried Durrington Cemetery plot 162 and Pte Ernest Beddow, 2545, died 5.50 a.m. 28th January, 1917, buried Bilston Cemetery, Staffordshire – private grave.)

A death for George A. Adams, aged 30, was registered in the March quarter, 1917 in the district of Amesbury, Wiltshire.

Pte George Alfred Adams was buried on 31st January, 1917 in Durrington Cemetery, Wiltshire – Grave number 163.

Pte George Alfred Adams was entitled to British War Medal & the Victory Medal but were unable to be sent to the next of kin as they could not contact Pte Adams' sister. The Medals were held in Store. A Memorial Scroll & Memorial Plaque were also unable to be sent to his next of kin & were sent to "Untraceables" (April, 1922)

The Commonwealth War Graves Commission lists Private George Alfred Adams – service number 6707 as being 23* (age discrepancy see above) years old & served with 6th Battalion Australian Infantry. No family details are listed.

Commonwealth War Graves Commission Headstones

The Defence Department, in 1920/21, contacted the next of kin of the deceased World War 1 soldiers to see if they wanted to include a personal inscription on the permanent headstone at Durrington War Graves Cemetery. Space was reserved for 66 letters only (with the space between any two words to be counted as an additional letter) & the rate per letter was around 3 ½ d (subject to fluctuation).

The expense in connection for the erection of permanent headstones over the graves of fallen soldiers was borne by the Australian Government.

(Information obtained from letters sent to next of kin in 1921)

Pte G. A. Adams does not have a personal inscription on his headstone.
