Commonwealth War Graves Commission Headstones

The Defence Department, in 1920/21, contacted the next of kin of the deceased World War 1 soldiers to see if they wanted to include a personal inscription on the permanent headstone at Durrington War Graves Cemetery. Space was reserved for 66 letters only (with the space between any two words to be counted as an additional letter) & the rate per letter was around 3  $\frac{1}{2}$  d (subject to fluctuation).

The expense in connection for the erection of permanent headstones over the graves of fallen soldiers was borne by the Australian Government.

(Information obtained from letters sent to next of kin in 1921)

A letter dated 8th March, 1922 from Base Records to Mrs G. Hillier – eldest sister of late Pte Thomas Richard Brittain states that the personal inscription that was chosen contains too many letters & would not be permitted on the headstone. The inscription that was denied – Its only an old piece of Bunting. The old tattered Red White and Blue. He fought for it like a hero. My brother so Dearest and true. Gone from those who loved him best, in a hero's grave he lies at rest.

Private T. R. Brittain does have a personal inscription on his headstone.

A Hero At Rest

Durrington Cemetery, Wiltshire, England

Durrington Cemetery contains burials of both wars. The 204 First World War burials were mostly from nearby Larkhill Camp. Many of the graves are of Australian servicemen and there is a separate Australian memorial in the cemetery. The Second World War burials number 22. In addition to the war graves, there are a number of post-war service graves in the cemetery, mostly of the Royal Air Force.
