In Memoriam

HANNABRY – In loving memory of Private E. R. Hannabry, the beloved son of the late Michael and Alice Hannabry, of Evansford, who died at Salisbury (England), when on his way to the front, on 18th January, 1917.

Forth to the battle he hastened

With many a comrade brave,

Who, eager and strong like our love done,

Now sleeps in a soldier's grave.

Far, far from the home of his childhood,

Away o'er the ocean so deep,

In a foreign land our loved one

Is sleeping his last long sleep.

-Inserted by his loving mother, Alice Hannabry.

(Talbot Leader, Victoria - 26 January, 1918)

Commonwealth War Graves Commission Headstones

The Defence Department, in 1920/21, contacted the next of kin of the deceased World War 1 soldiers to see if they wanted to include a personal inscription on the permanent headstone. Space was reserved for 66 letters only (with the space between any two words to be counted as an additional letter) & the rate per letter was around 3 ½ d (subject to fluctuation).

The expense in connection for the erection of permanent headstones over the graves of fallen soldiers was borne by the Australian Government.

(Information obtained from letters sent to next of kin in 1921)

Private E. R. Hannabry does have a personal inscription on his headstone.

St Lawrence's Churchyard, Stratford-sub-Castle, Wiltshire, England

During the two world wars, the United Kingdom became an island fortress used for training troops and launching land, sea and air operations around the globe. There are more than 170,000 Commonwealth war graves in the United Kingdom, many being those of servicemen and women killed on active service, or who later succumbed to wounds. Others died in training accidents, or because of sickness or disease. The graves, many of them privately owned and marked by private memorials, will be found in more than 12,000 cemeteries and churchyards. Most of the 47 First World War burials in Stratford-sub-Castle (St Lawrence) Churchyard were made from the local hospital and more than half of them are of Australian servicemen who were based at the many Australian depots and training camps in the area. There are also two burials of the Second World War in the cemetery. (Information from CWGC)
